Reviews

This pdf is indeed gripping and interesting. It is definitely simplistic but shocks within the 50 percent of your book. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

She is articulate when communicating complex ideas to others when teaching and lecturing about intercultural communication and related topics such as health, interpersonal and intercultural issues, rhetoric and persuasion, public speaking, graphic design, and audio-visual multimedia communication. Her professional activities include serving as an international correspondent and managing editor to the Arab-American Newspaper and publishing reports and research in industry management, organizational, interpersonal, and intercultural communication. Dr. Kahil contributed to several conferences, such as Central State Communication Association (CSCA) and National Communication Association (NCA). Her doctorate degree course work varies between the philosophical schools started by the ancient sciences (such as the Greek) and those of the contemporary theories of communication. Moreover, she gained a skilled comprehension of research application, survey design, focus groups, in-depth interviews, and other research strategies such as data collection, interpretation, and analysis procedures. Complementary to the above mentioned strategies, philosophical foundations of communication studies, of education, and of theater were courses that enriched her discipline.
